GREEN & WILLIAMS - Editors.

CONGRESS met last Monday.

The Somerville express began work Thursday of last week.

GOV. SEAY was inaugurated on Dec. 1st for his second term as governor of Alabama.

On account of the youth of its members, the legislature of Alabama is called the "Kid Legislature."

JACKSON has two daily papers, the Record, a morning, and the Times, an evening paper. Jackson is an enterprising, thrifty city and we congratulate her upon being able to sustain two daily papers.

From a correspondent to the Avalanche from Brownsville we learn that the Hon. Ike Rayville left there Tuesday for Washington Territory where he is to locate and practice law. We suppose he is looking for a republican district.

From the present outlook, the confederate brigadiers will be well cared for by the president elect. Such men as Generals Longstreet, Chalmers and Mahone, and even the colonels and captains will be looked after. What will Foraker, Blaine and Whitelaw Reid say to such an invasion as this by confederate brigadiers?

This police of Chicago have information that the anarchists are again at work. They have secret societies organized over the city, and in those societies the members are taught to hate and abhor honest people and to disregard the laws of the land. It seems that the late hanging of a number of the instigators of this scheme was not a sufficient warning to the followers of the diabolical order.

The president's message delivered to congress is an able, scholarly and fearless document, which is characteristic of the man. Grover Cleveland has proven himself to be a true statesman to the end—a man who is not afraid to say what he thinks, and to tell the people of the country the course to pursue to perpetuate the Union and to preserve peace and prosperity, regardless of the powerful agencies and combines he is antagonizing. Monopolies and trusts are sapping the life-blood from the laboring and poorer classes, and unless a check is put to their course he advances us that they will become more dangerous and damaging to the interests of the masses than anarchy. The message contains sound, sensible views from beginning to end, and is well worth reading.

Now that the election is over we suppose each newly-elected member of the legislature is beginning to look around to see what he can do that will be a benefit to those whom he represents in the next General Assembly. We suppose it would not be out of place for the BULL-ETIN to call attention to some laws that are burdensome and ought to be repealed. The assessment law is first among the number. It seems to offer a bribe upon its face, by paying the assessor according to the value of property he assesses. It is an inducement for him to put property above its real value in order to increase his fees. Again, in the revenue law, county warrants, witness fees, notes, etc., are taxed. This should not be. If one man wants to buy a warrant from another he should be allowed to do so without first having to procure license, and the same in regard to witness fees, notes, etc. Every obnoxious law should be repealed, and as the demonstrators have two-thirds of the legislature, the registration law should be passed by all means. The state should be redivided and make the tenth and third districts democratic beyond question.

Tennessee's Vote in Full, Corrected.

The total vote cast for President in the state is 303,784, including 48 votes for Streeter, the union labor candidate, and the total vote for governor is 302,706. Cleveland's plurality over Harrison is 19,791 and his majority 13,774. Taylor's plurality over Hawkins is 17,785 and his majority 10,892. Taylor's vote fell behind Cleveland's vote 1,180, while Hawkins ran ahead of his ticket twenty-six votes. Cleveland's plurality exceeds that of Taylor by 1,606 votes and Cleveland's majority is 2,882 in excess of Taylor's. East Tennessee gives Harrison a plurality of 25,249 and Hawkins a plurality of 25,563. Hawkins' majority in the eastern division is 13,948.

Middle Tennessee gives Cleveland a plurality of 27,657 and Taylor a plurality of 26,000. Taylor's majority in the western division is 16,168.

Johnson's total vote in the state was 6,893, divided as follows: East Tennessee, 1,615; Middle Tennessee, 4,096; West Tennessee, 1,182. It will be observed that the bulk of his vote came from the middle division, and that East Tennessee, where a large prohibition vote was expected, failed.

Notes from Sixteenth District EDITORS BULLETIN—The weather is delightful and a large per centage of the remaining cotton in the field is rapidly being gathered.

Considerable sickness is reported in this district.

Mr. S. C. Cottoning has moved into his handsome new dwelling in Teague.

We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Hodge, which occurred last Sunday.

Mrs. Mollie Davis, the wife of Mr. Gaston Davis, died a few days ago of typhoid fever.

The building committee is making arrangements to complete the new Union Church with the greatest possible dispatch.

Cotton leaves this section almost daily for Bolivar, as her merchants are offering superior inducements.

From Little Hatchie.

EDITORS BULLETIN—It will be remembered by some of the magistrates of the last July court, while protesting against the county aiding in building a bridge across Little Hatchie in the back water, that it was said by one of our citizens then opposing the building of a bridge at the lower place and favoring the upper place, remarked that the people would build them a bridge at the upper place near the ford. The assertion has been fully verified. On the 23rd and 24th of last month it was rumored around that the arches would be raised on those days. Sure enough, early each day ten or twelve of the neighbors were on hand. The arches went up, sleepers were laid across, and before the close of the second day there was a slam-banging of plank, and a rush was made to see who should be the first across. (You can ask Esq. Howell who came out ahead.) At noon on each day these present were made happy by the appearance of baked shovels, turnips, fruits, pies, no-nacs, in fact almost everything that would satisfy the inward man and make him use both hands. We have some other work to do before wagons can cross. We are picking cotton now.

Information Wanted.

The Nashville American says: During the war, perhaps in 1862, a man by the name of Jackson Jones living in Coffee county, Tennessee, enlisted in the Confederate army and was sent to the hospital at Nashville or somewhere else along the river. He sent for his wife, who left home to go and see him, leaving a boy two years old with a family by the name of Mills, who moved to Kentucky, perhaps in 1863, carrying the little boy with them. Mr. Jones nor his wife were heard of no more. Mrs. Jones' maiden name was Nations, and was always called "Sis." That little boy has allowed his way through the world and is now a man, but if one drop of blood flows through kindred veins he does not know it.

He wants to ask the many readers of the American, through its kind columns, if anyone can give him any information concerning his parents. They are probably dead, but perhaps some unfortunate comrade of Mr. Jones can tell where and when they died. He also wants to know if any of the relatives of Mr. Jones or his wife are living, and if so, where they are.

Any information on this subject will be thankfully received, and we hope the friends of the sad and lonely will give it some attention. Address your communications to E. R. Deason, Postmaster at Messenger, Stewart county, Tenn.

Water standing in the ruts will work the ruin of a road quicker than any thing else. Every vehicle passing along cuts the softened ruts deeper and churns the soil and water into slush and the road is rendered impassable in one or two days. Nothing will keep the roads in good condition so long and well as persistent scraping of the surface and keeping the ruts filled.—Exchange.

A Man in Trouble.

Last Sunday Mr. W. H. Bruton, editor of the State Wheel, received a postal card from Mr. J. L. Onley, of Friendship, Crockett county, upon which the writer expressed his opinion of the paper in anything but flattering terms, and closes it with a benediction that is calculated to excite the anger and try the Christian patience and fortitude of even an editor. The aforesaid editor, knowing such language on a postal card to be a gross violation of the postal law, promptly referred it to Judge H. W. McCurry, United States District Attorney. The result was that on Thursday night Mr. W. M. May, Deputy U.S. Marshal, brought this Onley man into the city a prisoner. He was carried before Commissioner D. H. Hayes yesterday morning, and the card being produced he acknowledged its authorship. He was placed under a bond of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the Federal Court in April. There is a severe penalty under the law for sending such matter on a postal card, and Mr. Onley will doubtless learn that it would probably have been cheaper to have come to Jackson and cursed the editor than to have done it in the way he did. His doctor's bill would have been less than the cost by the time he gets through with it in court.—State Wheel.

It is not safe to tell an editor to go to hades on a postal card.

New York Passenger Traffic.

The New York Sun has recently collected some statistics of the passenger traffic in and about New York. It is found that 1,672 regular passenger trains leave the stations of New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City every 24 hours. The Long Island road's summer service runs on its various lines 577 trains daily. The next largest business is done in the depot of the Erie in Jersey City, where 288 trains daily enter and leave, and there are 216 in and out of the Grand Central depot and 204 in and out of the Pennsylvania depot. Between 7,000 and eight thousand cars are employed daily in this traffic, and it is said that the number of people who entered and left the city by rail during the year ending May 1, 1888 was 40,188,000. Of this number the Long Island road carried about 8,000,000, the Pennsylvania 6,367,000, and the passengers entering and leaving the Grand Central depot in the same year were 8,881,000. The daily average of passengers in and out is 110,000. It is said that the Long Island road carried 98,000 people to Coney Island on the 4th of July. The busiest moment in the evening is at 5:40 o'clock. At that instant ten trains simultaneously leave the various stations. In the fifteen minutes between 5:30 and 5:45 fifty trains in all go out. The busiest single hour in the morning is 8:45 o'clock, when nine trains enter the stations simultaneously.
